

The Monaco made manga Blitz, on the Dragon Ball and One Piece steps!

Monaco, April 20, 2020, For the first time in history, a manga made outside Japan is available on the famous magazine Shonen Jump Plus published by Shueisha.

Blitz, the manga created in Monaco by Cédric Biscay, illustrated by Daitaro Nishihara and sponsored by Garry Kasparov convinced the editorial team of the famous manga magazine to be published next to Dragon Ball, Naruto, One Piece and Captain Tsubasa.

It is a great victory for Shibuya Productions and its brand-new label IWA (meaning "The rock" in Japanese).

Shonen Jump Plus is read by more than 4 million Japanese people every week, and this number has been increasing since Japan is also facing the health crisis. When it comes to Manga, Shōnen Jump Plus is the absolute manga reference all around the world.

Cédric Biscay: "It's exceptional and it is still hard to believe this is happening. Authors around the world dream about it knowing that it is almost impossible. Beyond the pride felt by the entire Team of Shibuya Productions, this publication will certainly open the door to other foreign authors."

The Synopsis of Blitz:

Tom, a young high school student, has a crush on the beautiful Harmony. Once he gets to know that she is passionate about chess, he decides to enroll in the college club. But he doesn't know the rules! He has no choice: he must learn everything and practice seriously.

Rapidly, he discovers the existence of Garry Kasparov, the greatest player in the History of chess.

During his research Tom bumps into a virtual reality machine that will allow him to analyze the most legendary games of the master!

Then an unexpected event will open the doors the very high level of chess to Tom, and this, in spite of him...
